FREE PRESENTATIONS TO HELP YOU GET INFORMED!

Join us for Personal Planning Month 2018

The presentations/webinars are 'live' with a question and answer component. These will NOT be recorded.

You may not charge a fee or use the webinars for commercial purposes. (Some hosts may charge for refreshments or to recover costs for photocopying handouts.)

3 ways to participate:

1. As a group — family, friends, patients/clients, work colleagues. Sign up to watch online.
2. Individually — watch at home or at work on your own device. Sign up to watch online.
3. Attend at a public host location such as a BC public library. See poster or full list at PPM2018 (If you want to be a host location for the public, Nidus can provide a poster to assist with promotion.)

4 topics, each offered twice on different dates:

Pick and choose your interest or watch the series.

① Joint ownership — the Good, the Bad & the Risky!

Joint ownership of bank accounts, real estate property, and vehicles is common for spouses. What can happen when a parent and child own property jointly? Learn about recent court cases that raise new cautions about joint ownership. Also, find out why joint ownership is NOT a substitute for planning in case of incapacity or end-of-life.

Q&A

② Dying Without a Will & Tips for Making a Will

Some people are considered not capable of making a Will due to the legal requirements. This may affect someone with a disability from birth (special needs). It can also affect an adult who put off making a Will and now has advanced dementia. How does the law require the estate to be settled?

For the majority of British Columbians who can make a Will, we'll offer some tips and resources.

③ Consent to Health Care and to Facility Care

Consent is very much in the news as it underlies many of our day-to-day interactions. Consent is also fundamental to encounters with the health care and residential care systems.

What are the consent rights of patients with regard to health and personal care matters? What are the rights of representatives authorized in a Representation Agreement for consent to health and personal care if a patient is incapacitated?

Who should attend?

With the changing nature of society — the aging population, blended families, and globalization — the law and practice governing these topics are also changing. Old information and past approaches may no longer apply, yet it takes a long time for this reality to get to the people who are most affected. These topics are relevant to the following:

- Parkinson support groups
- Alzheimer/Dementia support groups
- Stroke Clubs
- Seniors Centres and seniors programs
- Adults with chronic illness and/or physical disabilities
- Retiree programs – retired teachers, retired government employees, CARP
- Home support agencies and services – non-profit and for-profit
- United Way Better at Home Programs (non-medical home support)
- Hospice/Palliative Care and end-of-life programs, funeral industry
- Caregivers
- Those with sole legal custody of minor children
- LGBTQ individuals and groups
- Stratas owners & Strata Councils, Housing Co-ops - members and associations, Co-Housing
- Assisted Living, care facilities
- Cancer Agencies/programs
- Renal dialysis programs
- Parents and siblings that support an adult with a cognitive disability from birth
- Anyone 19 and older
- Advocates and professionals who help patients or clients with planning for the future (health care providers, financial planners/advisors, bank staff, legal professionals...)
