Training Opportunity

Are you a health professional or financial advisor or staff/volunteer of a community organization who works with seniors?

Planning for end-of-life care is bound to be an increasingly popular topic, especially with less than 5 months until the Criminal Code ban on physician assisted suicide/death is no longer in effect (February 6, 2016) as ruled by the Supreme Court of Canada.

Nidus is offering an in-depth webinar for intermediaries who want to help seniors and boomers or their caregivers plan for incapacity and end-of-life.

New Registry Feature - Shared Access

You can now share your registered document with individuals such as your representative and alternate and your family doctor or others who may need to know.

Go to your Registry Account, click on your registered document and then click 'Share Document.' Fill in the person's email address and click share. They will receive an email with a link and instructions to log in to Shared Access. They will be able to view information about your document and a copy if you uploaded it.

Shared Access protects your privacy—never give your password to anyone else—and it facilitates communication with trusted others. It will be very useful in case of an emergency and your representative needs to get your information. They can use their shared access log-in from anywhere that has Internet Access and through their computer, phone, or iPad.
